

Friday 21st December 2018

Dear Parents and Carers,
We have come to the end of a very busy term; jam packed with learning and it has been great to see the children apply all their new skills during their independent learning time this week.

Our topic for the next half term is 'People who help us...' We have already asked the children what they would like to find out about/make/do based on this theme and have sent home some of their ideas for you to chat about and add to. Please return the topic brainstorm on Tuesday 8th January 2019, so that we can personalise your child's learning.

Home Learning challenge

In preparation for our new topic, we are asking you to take on a family challenge of creating something for our people who help us display. This could be a junk model emergency vehicle that you construct from those Christmas boxes such as an ambulance, helicopter or lifeboat, a road sign or even a skeleton. Be creative, the choice is yours!

Please continue to support your child in reading and writing their tricky words and sharing books regularly over the Christmas break. Your support really does make a difference to the confidence your child will have and the progress that they will make in their reading and writing.

We would like to wish you all a wonderful Christmas and a happy New Year!

We value our parents as partners. Please leave a comment on any aspect of your child's learning. Things they are enjoying, new learning that they may have shared with you or things that they may be finding tricky.
